

Maria Fernanda Baquedano Santos (MX)

Maria Fernanda Baquedano Santos is currently a student of biomedical engineering. She has the motivation to develop in this field because of her constant seek of helping people and creating a better world with her knowledge. Something characteristic of Fernanda is her search to discover her true self. She explores different areas in order to find a place to express her concerns, motivations and things that make her happy.