

Kateryna Rybalochka (GB)

Kateryna likes to call herself a Juniouir Education Explorer as she loves to be engaged in different educational experiences.

She traveled around small villages in Ukraine helping to create learning hubs and doing workshops for local children and adults. Also she organized career guidance summer camp in Kyiv for schoolchildren and educational trips for students around the country.

Currently, Kateryna is pursuing a PhD in Psychology at National University of „Kyiv-Mohyla Academy“ (remotely for now) and working with postgraduate students at Cambridge University supporting neurodiverse community to make their learning experience better.

She’s always up for new connections and enjoys trying new things, whether it’s boxing or learning sign language –sometimes at the same time!

Kateryna will soon be sharing her thoughts and experiences in articles on LinkedIn and is happy to be in touch!
